- 1. If you are practicing good teamwork and maneuvers, yes. Otherwise, not. Paintball is nothing like a real firefight.
  - 2 & 3. Never been to Indiana.
  - 4. Tippman are the best, but they are expensive. Try to find a Pyrhanna (I think that's how they spell it) or Spyder. Well, still a reasonable price. Also good for beginners.
  - 6. There is no sign of mask is better than another because they all have to do the same thing, protect your face. I would try to find one that goes a quarter inch or so from the edge of your face. you want to protect from paintballs strangely angled. Also, look for one that has holes look real in front of the mouth, rather than just a group of indentations. This will really help him breathe.
  - 7. Google Maps just that. I do not know exactly where you live in Indiana, it is preferable for you to do exactly that. It should say amateur or beginner somewhere. Otherwise, try to find some pictures to see the configuration. If obstacles are great and offer lots of armor, then it is for beginners. Beginners do not know how to use fully the barriers, if they are given more to better protect them. The obstacles become smaller as you learn to use them more effectively
  - 8. It depends on many different things. Do you plan to fly? Where do you reside? How much does it cost to enter? What's the cost of air and paint in OK and IN?
  - 9. Never been to D-Day

I want a paintball gun from $ 100 - $ 200 for recreation with friends. We made our own area in the woods and did very well. I already have a mask, co2 tank, hopper, pods, etc. Now all I need is a weapon that will fall into this atmosphere that I play in.

Thank you!

To avoid all (and myself off course) Research time sports information crucial. So if you enjoy hunting or bowling, running or swimming, if you're fishing or triathlon, all the information you need is here. Stay tuned and enjoy

Many parents disagree strongly with their children get airsoft guns. However, many parents do not understand that airsoft weapons are actually very safe for children to play with.

Airsoft use is without doubt one of the safest ways for children to use guns today. However, there are still many people who want guns airsoft are simply prohibited. Before arriving at a hypothesis about guns, it provides a background knowledge little about guns.

Airsoft guns are realistic looking toy guns that fire pellets at speeds of 25 to 45m. The guns are nothing like the old BB guns that many people stopped to compare. They will not fire on all windows or cause discomfort as long as you follow the safety precautions that come with the guns.

The guns are by no means new to the market. They have been in existence for a period of 30 years. The guns are not designed to hurt someone, in fact, they are designed to be used in place of leisure. Children will eagerly use guns for paintball games, target shooting or copying the war games.

The guns were created in Japan. During the time of their creation in Japan of firearms were prohibited, but people still wanted a weapon that would serve recreational purposes. They decide to make a non-lethal Pellet firing the weapon, instead of a bullet or BB, which could cause discomfort.

The guns began to grow rapidly throughout Japan. People from many different walks of life were to ask one of the guns themselves. They launch in Hong Kong and the Philippines, but they have not reached the peak of their popularity until they reach the United Kingdom and the United States....

Many parents become alarmed when their children avidly ask for airsoft guns for special occasions. Airsoft guns are actually harmless as long as the proper safety protocols are followed.

People utilizing the airsoft guns are inadvertently using the safest guns on the market today. There are still people that would like nothing more but to have them banned regardless of the safety features that they instill. However, before you make a final decision on the guns and if they are good or not for your children, it would behoove you to learn a little bit more about them.

Airsoft guns are toy guns that look a lot like a real gun. They fire off pellets at a rate of 25m to 45m. The guns are not like the old BB guns that many people consistently keep comparing them to. They will not fire out windows or anything of that nature.

The guns are actually not new to the gun market either. In fact, they have been sold for over 30 years. The guns are designed to be used for different recreational activities such as paintball, for target practice, and also be used to emulate war.

The airsoft gun was manufactured in Japan. During its creation, guns were banned in the country, yet there was still a lot of demand for them. Therefore, many people came together to make a gun that would be considered safe and allow people the opportunity to utilize them without getting reprimanded.

The guns quickly began to grow all over Japan. People from many different walks of life were requesting one of the guns for themselves. They branched out to Hong Kong and the Philippines, however they did not reach the peak of their popularity until they reached the UK and the US.

There are three main types of airsoft guns that you can obtain. The first gun is a spring operated gun, there is also the gas powered gun, as well as the battery powered gun. All of the guns serve the same purpose of being able to create a recreational experience for anyone that utilizes them.
